

HUE COCOTTE !

- CRAFT/PROFESSION

Caroline makes clothing and accessories for women and children, together with decorative articles for homes and bedrooms.

With a background in academic study, she brings rigorous care to the details and the final touches of her designs, she wants them “to look as good on the inside as they do on the outside”.

- BACKGROUND

As a little girl, Caroline used to undress her dolls and give them new outfits made with fabrics borrowed from her mother and a stapler. As she grew older, she began sewing her own clothes when she couldn't afford to buy new clothes or couldn't find anything to please her in the shops.

Caroline studied history at university before switching to applied arts. She began work as a window dresser (designing decors and displays) then taught design and applied arts for 15 years.

But sewing took up more and more of her free time, so Caroline decided to train with a professional for a year before setting up her small craft business.

- INSPIRATION AND ART/DESIGNS

Caroline carries a notebook around in her bag so it's always to hand to make sketches and glue in fabric samples... Her main sources of inspiration are fashion (Lacroix), painting, architecture (Gaudi, Hundertwasser, Le Corbusier), and the art deco style.

Her designs are full of colour, sparkle and fun (sardines and ice cream cones to hang up at home, airplane sleep masks). She creates simple, stylish and easy-to-wear clothes made from cotton and linen.
