• CRAFT/PROFESSION

June PIETRA is a watercolour painter. She makes pen or pencil drawings and then gives her imagination free rein with watercolours. "Watercolour is a medium which teaches patience and humility", June explains. "You learn from your mistakes and you never make them again".

June mostly paints outdoors, "immersed in landscapes so I can capture plays of light and unexpected scenes. The only equipment I need fits into my hand". In her studio, she loves working on more complex compositions, particularly portraits.

• INSPIRATION AND ART/DESIGNS

June spends many hours seeking the perfect framing for her work, the right composition in harmony with the time of day, sunlight and visual angle. "I create art which conveys the feeling of a walk or trip in the countryside".

Her paintings "transcribe the beauty of a place, its inner energy and character. And the same is true of my portraits..." June prizes authenticity above representation.

Her watercolours reflect the essence of a fleeting moment, often featuring striking, contrasting colours. She draws her inspiration from New Caledonia's landscapes, natural beauties and abstract forms, plants and, above all, light. When working in her studio, June loves "creating juxtapositions and overlays to entwine human, animal and plant elements.

She is an enthusiastic traveller and has created a dozen large format travel journals.
